Could you be the face of Community Protection?

Community Protection is searching for a number of new volunteers to take part in the auxiliary scheme.

As an Auxiliary Community Protection Officer you would be fully trained to deal with a range of different scenarios relating to anti-social behaviour and enviro-crime, including littering, nuisance neighbours and fly-tipping.

The training will also help you to develop your problem solving and communication skills, and provide an opportunity for you to work as part of a successful team.

In order to succeed you will need to be dedicated, determined and have the ability to think on your feet.

The volunteer scheme is open to anyone aged 18 years or over who would either like to gain experience, is considering a career change or simply would like to make a difference to their local community in their spare time.
